ADVISORY SERVICES OVERVIEW

Just for the non-profit sector

Not clear on where technology can take your purpose?

Need to find your way through the technology maze?

Want technology to help your ideas grow?

Not-for-profit organisations have the power to change the world. It's time technology empowers them to do just that.

maysix consulting offers a range of services to help you evaluate, plan and deliver IT change for good.

IT review & strategic planning

Give your IT a health-check, set your priorities and get actionable, realistic plans that actually support your vision and mission.

Product/vendor selection

Evaluate and choose the solution that is fit for your purpose and engage vendors on your terms.

IT organisation & governance

Find out what the right IT organisation looks like for you, establish solid decision-making and show your teams and your board how technology will help you deliver positive impact.

Project management support

Kickstart your IT projects with simple yet effective project management, and build your project management capability to keep your projects on track.

IT solution needs assessment

Think you need a new system? Define clear business needs, work out the benefits before you commit to major spend, and architect solutions that fit in the big picture.

On-going IT business partner

Many non-profits can't afford a full-time CIO, but shouldn't miss out on accessing senior-level IT expertise. Get on-going and affordable IT leadership on your digital journey.

Talk to someone you can trust for good advice on making the right technology choices for your organisation.
